Health Care

Although President Nixon covered a lot of ground in his State of the Union message, an eager public must wait for details of the administration's national health care package. However, the Chief Executive said its aim will be to "ensure that no American family will be prevented from obtaining basic medical care by inability to pay." In a country where health care costs are climbing to fantastic levels, there'll be widespread approval of this approach. — Beaumont (Tex.) Enterprise

Sex And The Mails

As of February 1, a federal law goes into effect that allows the citizen to shield himself from pornographic mail. He may register at a local Post Office to indicate that he does not want to receive sexually oriented material via mail; and businesses that deal in such stuff will send him their goods at their own risk.

Of course, there remains leeway in interpreting the law as to just what may be deemed erotically objectionable. For ourselves, we never realized until now just how sexy all those monthly bills are. — Roanoke (Va.) Times

Wants Public Vote on Sales Tax Increase

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sterling Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock, unsuccessful Republican candidate for lieutenant governor last year, has prepared a plan where a 1 per cent sales tax increase could be submitted to the voters before becoming effective.

Cockrill outlined his plan in an open letter to Gov. Dale Bumpers, the legislature and the Arkansas Education Association.

Under Cockrill's proposal, Bumpers would agree to a one per cent increase in the sales tax, but food and medicine would be exempted from the increase to help ease the "regressiveness" of the tax.

"The legislature would agree to pass the tax with a delayed effective date so that petitions could be circulated to refer the tax to a vote of the people before starting to collect the tax," Cockrill said. "The mechanics and appropriation for the vote on the question could be provided in the event enough signatures were obtained to call the election."

"The Arkansas Education Association would provide the leadership to circulate the petitions calling for a public vote with the understanding that if enough signatures were not obtained, the governor would call the legislature back into session for the purpose of repealing the tax before it became effective."

Highway Bonds Recommended

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill that would authorize a $300 million highway construction bond issue, if approved by voters in a May 18 special election, was given a "do-pass" recommendation Monday by the Roads and Highways Committee of the Arkansas House.

The bill would distribute 70 per cent of the funds from the bond issue to the state Highway Department and 15 per cent each to the cities and counties.

Would Make Objectors Prove Point

By JIM ADAMS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Armed Services Committee proposed today conscientious-objector status be given young men willing to demonstrate their sincerity with three years of nonmilitary service.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., disclosed his "somewhat radical suggestion" in a prepared statement opening House hearings on the draft.

Heading the witness list were Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird, Roger T. Kelley, assistant secretary of manpower, and Selective Service Director Curtis W. Tarr.

Meanwhile, the Defense Department asked Selective Service to draft 2,100 doctors and dentists this year. The callup is necessary, the Pentagon said, because too few medical-school graduates have volunteered.

Beginning July 1, 1,531 medical doctors, 77 osteopaths and 536 dentists will be drafted into the Army, Navy and Air Force for two years' active duty.

Hebert offered the conscientious-objector proposal as an answer to the burden he said was placed on draft boards by a Supreme Court decision that all sincere objectors to war are eligible for CO status.

"It is manifestly impossible to determine 'sincerity' with any precision," Hebert said. "The only true test of 'sincerity' is performance."

He recommended conscientious objectors be required to serve at least three years with government, public or private institutions—he gave no examples—that have trouble-finding qualified men for essential work.

If a CO failed to perform his assignment satisfactorily, Hebert said, the law should make him available for immediate military duty.

The minimum three-year service compares to two years of active military duty. But Hebert said there would not be a penalty because conscientious objectors would not have the total six-year active and reserve obligation of men in military service.

The chairman said Congress should consider an even higher starting pay than the 50 per cent proposed by President Nixon in his plan to have a volunteer Army by 1973.

Hebert contended the Nixon administration "has now come around" to his position that the draft must be extended for a while. He said the President's proposal is to attract enough volunteers to make drafting unnecessary.

"In our present situation," Hebert said, "I think the only way to get an all-volunteer Army is to draft it."

Surprising Things Can Happen If You Fool With Life Long Enough

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you fool around with life long enough, some surprising things can happen to you. For example you can become 60 years old.

This happened to me promptly at noon Sunday while I was lying abed pondering whether man's long journey from colic to arthritis is necessary or even worthwhile.

Frankly, I was surprised that my 60th birthday, which I have long anticipated with more misgivings than gratitude, made such a small stir.

I had thought there would be a tremendous cosmic boom or the sudden arching of a rainbow over my birthplace to celebrate the occasion. At the least, surely, there would be the running up of flags, a mutter of musketry and the booming of cannon, a few public speeches and the sounding of huzzahs from a grateful citizenry.

None of these things happened. No department store even held a special sale of

Market Suffers Steep Setback

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, buffeted by profit taking, suffered its steepest setback of the year Monday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial issues fell 9.58 points to 868.98. Losers topped gainers by 1,227 to 239 among 1,685 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume contracted to 15.84 million shares from 17.86 million Friday.

Burns Fatal to Lucile Carrigan

Burns suffered when fire destroyed her home early Monday in Washington, proved fatal later yesterday to Mrs. Lucile Carrigan, 66. The home was completely destroyed.

Mrs. Carrigan was a lifelong resident of Washington. She was employed as Red Cross representative for Hempstead for many years.

She is survived by one daughter, JoAnn Carrigan, who is head of the history department at the University of Omaha, Neb., and an aunt, Mrs. Pink Horton of Washington.

Services will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Washington Methodist Church by the Rev. Joe Jones. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery by Herndon Funeral Home.

House Gets Bill to Up Sales Tax

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Kenneth Camp of Brookland introduced a bill in the Arkansas House Monday to increase the state sales and use tax from 3 to 3½ per cent. Camp said his bill was identical to a measure introduced in the Arkansas Senate Friday.

Nine other representatives signed Camp's bill as cosponsors.

Camp said the bill, which would raise an estimated $20 million, should be passed in combination with Gov. Dale Bumpers' $26 million tax package.

The bill ran into immediate trouble in the House when a number of representatives objected to a routine second reading of the measure. The House refused to suspend the rules and allow a second reading Monday, thereby delaying the bill's progress by a day.

Woman 81, Hit and Killed

DUMAS, Ark. (AP) — Pearl McSwain, 81, of Dumas was killed Monday night when struck by a truck on a city street near her home at Dumas.

McSwain was walking across the street when she was struck by a truck on a city street near her home at Dumas.

"Today I stand on a vast hinge of time—I am 60 years old," Lady Dottie took the news unblinkingly.

"You don't understand, cat," I continued. "Nothing this bad has happened to mankind since I turned 40. The glad days are behind, only sad days lie ahead. I look at the horizon around me and find it rimmed in black, as if it were a letter from the Universal Funeral Director."

Lady Dottie wiped away a crocodile tear with one paw, then ran out to the refrigerator and waited to be fed.

Three of Governor's Tax Bills Passed by Senate, One Amended

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Three of Gov. Dale Bumpers' tax bills, one of which reduces a tax, were approved Thursday by the Senate, which tacked two amendments to the administration's use tax repealer bill.

The amendments moved the use tax measure into line for prompt action and probable passage.

Approved and sent to the House Thursday were:

— A bill to cut the transfer tax from $3 per $1,000 to gross consideration of a real estate transaction to $1.10 per $1,000. The vote was 31-3.

— A bill to reduce the discount merchants receive for collection and early payment of the sales tax from 2 per cent to 1 per cent, effective April 1. The vote was 23-9.

— A bill to bring a variety of services under the state's 3 per cent sales tax on April 1. The vote was 24-10.

Sen. Morrell Gathright of Pine Bluff sponsored the two amendments attached to the use tax repealer bill.

One, adopted on a 19-12 vote, would exempt from the state sales tax purchases of fuel railroads use to run trains.

The other would provide a three-year phase out of the exemptions, rather than the one year provided for in the original bill. The vote on this amendment was 21-12.

In the House, meanwhile, legislative discontent with prison policies led to defeat of a bill that would appropriate for the governor's emergency fund $686,000 for prison operations. Another vote is expected to be sought on the bill later.

The administration's use tax measure would gradually wipe out exemptions that are enjoyed by utilities and transportation companies.

As drafted by the administration, the bill would have imposed the tax at a 2 per cent rate next July 1 with the full per cent to take effect on July 1, 1972.

However, Gathright's amendment would alter the phase-out period, culminating in complete termination of the exemptions on July 1, 1974.

The proposal is expected to See THREE OF

Rules Lawyers Must Show Loyalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 5-4 today law graduates may be required to show they are loyal to the government before they may be licensed to practice law.

"Surely the state is constitutionally entitled to make such an inquiry of an applicant for admission to a profession dedicated to the peaceful and reasoned settlement of disputes between men, and between a man and his government," said Justice Potter Stewart in a majority opinion.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices John M. Harlan, Byron R. White and Harry A. Blackmun agreed. Justices Hugo L. Black, William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

The rulings rejected claims of five recent law school graduates who refused to answer questions about their personal and political backgrounds in order to practice in New York State. They said the question worked "a chilling effect" upon their freedom of speech and association.

Says Arkla
Favors Outside
Customers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorneys for industrial customers of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. told the state Public Service Commission Monday that Arkla favored out-of-state customers over in-state customers in providing supplies of natural gas.

The PSC is conducting a hearing to decide whether to set aside long-term contracts Arkla has with its industrial customers. Under the contracts, industries pay a lower rate for natural gas than residential customers.

Arkla is in favor of voiding the contracts because it says it must have higher rates from industrial customers to build a pipeline from the Anadarko Basin in Texas and Oklahoma to increase its supply of natural gas.

Gaston V. Jones, Arkla vice president and chief engineer, denied the charges by the attorneys for the industries. He said the attorneys were using the wrong statistics to arrive at their conclusions.

Standby Wage, Price Power Suggested

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration told Congress today it would accept an extension of the standby authority—so far unused by the President—to impose temporary wage-price controls.

A carefully worded statement by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally to the House Banking Committee did not rule out the rumored possibility of a wage-price freeze in the construction industry, although Connally said no general wage price controls are now needed.

The present authority for temporary controls on prices, rents, wages and salaries expires March 31 unless extended by Congress.

When the standby authority was originally voted last year, Nixon said he did not want such

Cong Attacks Threaten Laos Invasion

By JOHN HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the White House is talking down the point so far, violent North Vietnamese counterattacks are transforming the South Vietnamese invasion of southern Laos into a critical test of President Nixon's strategy of U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam.

Informed officials concede the stakes are becoming higher than they would have been if the Laos operation had paralleled that in Cambodia last spring when the fighting was relatively light.

A major success for South Vietnamese and U.S. forces—the first on the ground and the other in the air—would almost certainly make it possible for President Nixon to speed up the removal of American troops, officials indicate.

A major failure in the strike against the Ho Chi Minh Trail complex, however, would raise serious questions about the next stage of the withdrawal program, scheduled for May, since the whole disengagement process is based on the ability of the South Vietnamese army to defend its country.

State and Defense Department authorities both put out the administration line Monday that, while disappointed over the heavy losses suffered by the South Vietnamese in one engagement, the action is not regarded as a set back in the over-all attack against the JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Federal relief officials poured into the Mississippi Delta today where dozens of tornadoes left 82 dead, hundreds injured, and 2,350 homeless.

A "major disaster" designation by President Nixon cleared the way for massive federal assistance to the area, including grants for repairs to public facilities, shipments of mobile homes to house the homeless, and low-cost business and home loans.

Gov. John Bell Williams planned a meeting in Jackson today with Gen. George Lincoln, director of the U.S. Office of Emergency Preparedness, to coordinate the relief effort.

Officials said up to 100 tornadoes skipped across seven counties Sunday night, causing an estimated $7.5 million in damages.

Heaviest Air Strikes in Months

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command today announced its heaviest air strikes in North Vietnam in three months, South Vietnam's top fighting general was killed in a helicopter crash, and for the sixth day no progress was reported in the South Vietnamese drive in southern Laos.

Fifty American fighter-bombers raided surface-to-air missile—SAM—sites and other anti-aircraft positions in North Vietnam Saturday and Sunday, accompanied by about 20 support aircraft, the command said. It added that no planes were lost. They were the heaviest such raids since Nov. 21.

Other sources said the raiders also attacked supply depots.

A communiqué said the American planes hit targets near the Laotian border and "below the 19th parallel," or somewhere along a stretch of border that runs for about 190 miles northwest of the demilitarized zone and ends about 160 miles southwest of Hanoi.

The U.S. Command said the "protective reaction" strikes were ordered after "repeated hostile acts and recent SAM firings by anti-aircraft positions against U.S. aircraft involved in interdiction of North Vietnamese supplies along the Ho Chi Minh trail in Laos."

A spokesman said he did not know what damage the planes did.

The raids began three days after President Nixon warned that he would place no limitation on the use of American air power in Indochina. There have been 14 previous "protective reaction" strikes against North Vietnamese SAM sites this year, but all were by one or two planes escorting B52 bombers or reconnaissance planes.

All 14 of those raids were made in response to radar indications that the SAM sites were about to fire on U.S. planes, announcements each time said. The U.S. Command made no such claim for the weekend raids, but the attacks did not represent any broadening of the U.S. policy of protective reaction.

Last year the Nixon administration expanded this policy to include attacks against supply buildings inside North Vietnam as well as anti-aircraft defenses, and in the raids last Nov. 21 about 250 American planes attacked North Vietnamese SAM sites, anti-aircraft artillery, supply trucks and depots south of the 19th parallel.

The general killed was Lt. Gen. Do Cao Tri, commander of the 25,000-man South Vietnamese drive against enemy base camps in eastern Cambodia and a confident, aggressive leader. His death was considered a temporary setback to the Vietnamization program.

The government named Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Minh to succeed Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu as commander of the 3rd Military Region and the operation in Cambodia.

Unions Plan Policing Labor Safety

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The AFL-CIO said today that labor union inspectors plan their own policing of the new federal occupational safety and health law to make sure it is enforced by federal and state officials.

"The Occupational Safety and Health Act can be made into an instrument to save thousands of lives and prevent millions of job-incurred injuries and illnesses, but it requires both our vigilance and our responsible action," said the labor federation's executive council.

It said neither the federal Departments of Labor nor Health, Education and Welfare nor state governments are equipped for more than token enforcement programs immediately. The law goes into effect April 28.

"It may very well require two to three years under the best of circumstances before the potential benefits of this act are felt by a majority of workers," the labor council said.

In the meantime, it added, "organized labor must do all in its power to see that the programs under this act be fully funded, adequately staffed and firmly enforced."

The executive council said the two federal departments will determine whether the law is vigorously enforced "or whether it will remain a piece of paper."

Judge Visits Jail Prior to Lawsuit

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A trial on a lawsuit that contends that conditions in the Pulaski County Jail constitute cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the U.S. Constitution begins Wednesday in U.S. District Court here.

A group of inmates filed the suit late last year, seeking an injunction to prevent inmates from being housed in the jail unless the county provided "minimal clean, sanitary facilities with adequate ventilation and lighting and uncrowded conditions."

Judge G. Thomas Eisele and O. A. Allen, the jail superintendent, toured the jail Monday in preparation for the trial. The tour was made on the same day that a report was released that said most of the nation's jail population is held in aging facilities that are overcrowded and understaffed. A survey, on which the report was based, was made by the Census Bureau for the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

The 43-year-old jail in Little Rock has four stories, but except for a small juvenile cell on the third floor, the third and fourth floors are used for storage. Allen said the temperature in the juvenile cell sometimes reaches 110 degrees during the summer.

As Eisele began the tour, he encountered a big washtub in the first-floor hallway catching a steady drip from the ceiling.

Allen told the judge that a plumber had been called to find the leak.

In the basement, two other buckets were catching leaks from the ceiling.

Many of the windows in the jail have been covered with sheet metal causing poor lighting and ventilation.

Breweries Paid for Beer Promotion

By LAWRENCE L. KNUSTON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Up to $4,000 monthly provided by Carling's Breweries to promote Black Label beer in GI clubs in Vietnam was manipulated on the currency blackmarket and used for kickbacks and bribes to club managers, the Senate has been told.

Connecticut Democrat Abraham Ribicoff's permanent investigations subcommittee was told the only time Carling's money went for genuine promotion was during a visit to Vietnam by a Carling's official, Tommy Thompson.

Jack Bybee, a former general manager of Vietnam business interests of William J. Crum, testified Monday that, after he complained about use of the promotional money, he was assigned to another job.

The subcommittee is investigating alleged corruption in servicemen's clubs, post exchanges and other activities supported by GIs' spending.

During Thompson's visit, Bybee testified, Crum gave him a suitcase full of military pay-dement certificates and ordered him to give the money to Carling's salesmen to "visibly promote Carling's."

Actually, Bybee said, there was no documentation of how the promotional funds were used.

Instead, he said, "We juggled the figures each month to show that $4,000 had been spent. We sent these false documents to Hong Kong for transmittal to Carling's headquarters in Cleveland, Ohio."

Bybee said the Carling's account was handled in a manner typical of all products promoted by Crum firms.

Previous subcommittee testimony has described Crum as the most successful businessman dealing with GI activities in Vietnam.

Always, Bybee said, kickbacks were Crum's key to doing business with military facilities. Testifying Crum was aided in his operations by Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole, Bybee said the general pulled strings to help Crum unload a failing business interest, a giftshop at the 90th Replacement Battalion near Long Binh.

The Army says Gen. Cole was demoted stripped of a Distinguished Service Medal and retired in 1969 as commander of the European PX system.

Talks Urban Renewal

MIKE KELLY

Mike Kelly gave a progress report on activities of the Urban Renewal Program in Hope at the regular weekly luncheon of the Lions Club Monday at Town & Country.

Mr. Kelly is executive director of the Urban Renewal project in Hope and told the group of the vast amount of work connected with the project and brought several maps portraying the areas under discussion. The surveys and plans desired by the committee must be approved by the area office of urban renewal in Little Rock and approval to start the work is expected by July 1971.

The project in general is bounded on the north by the Missouri Pacific tracks, on the west by the L & A tracks and Sixth Street on the south and Hazel Street on the east.

Some 61 homes are considered substandard in the residential area but six could pass by certain changes, leaving 55 to be removed. Eight-three new housing units are considered for replacement of the old houses.

Displaced persons could then rent the new houses according to ability to pay. Mr. Kelly said that due to low incomes of some there would be federal assistance in paying rents. He explained that while housing of this type pay no taxes to the county they did pay 10 per cent of their income to the county in lieu of taxes.

The downtown area was discussed and plans revealed for parking areas, limited traffic and small type shopping areas. Mr. Kelly also commented on a general updating of the 701 plan, a study made by the University of Arkansas several years ago which covers land use, transportation and community facilities.

The program was arranged by Cecil O'Steen. John Suderland of the Game and Fish Commission was the guest of Lion Paul Morgan. Howard Milam of the Sheriff's Department was a guest of Lion Leon Prescott and Bob Brown new owner of Hope Volkswagen was guest of Lion Charles Sharp.

Thousands remained snow-bound in northern and northwestern Oklahoma, where a snow cover of 2 feet and more in some areas was haped into 12- and 15-foot drifts.

Thunderstorms erupting in the warm sector of sprawling storm system spawned tornadoes late Monday which hit communities in Indiana, Ohio, Georgia, Florida and North and South Carolina.

Two persons were killed in a pair of twisters that dipped into the Fayetteville, N.C., area. Some 60 were injured and heavy property damage was reported. Seven persons were injured by two tornadoes that churned through the east side of Columbus, Ohio. No serious injuries were reported in the other twisters.

In the aftermath of Sunday night's tornadoes in the Mississippi Delta, President Nixon declared the region a major disaster area, paving the way for massive federal recovery aid. The death toll stood at 82 in Mississippi and Louisiana, with more than 2,300 persons homeless and damage estimated at $7.5 million.

Meanwhile, the National Weather Service issued heavy-snow warnings for northern New York and northern New England.

Freezing rain spread up the Ohio Valley to New England, and icing curtailed highway and airline traffic for varying periods, over a wide area of the central Midwest.

Flash-flood warnings were out for parts of western Pennsylvania and southwestern New York due to rain and melting snow from earlier storms.

Fair skies prevailed through most of the Far West, marred only by light snow inland over the mountains.

Some 61 homes are considered substandard in the residential area but six could pass by certain changes, leaving 55 to be removed. Eight-three new housing units are considered for replacement of the old houses.

Displaced persons could then rent the new houses according to ability to pay. Mr. Kelly said that due to low incomes of some there would be federal assistance in paying rents. He explained that while housing of this type pay no taxes to the county they did pay 10 per cent of their income to the county in lieu of taxes.

The downtown area was discussed and plans revealed for parking areas, limited traffic and small type shopping areas. Mr. Kelly also commented on a general updating of the 701 plan, a study made by the University of Arkansas several years ago which covers land use, transportation and community facilities.

The program was arranged by Cecil O'Steen.

Reformers Hold No Hope on Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate reformers held little hope today for their second try to end the two and a half week filibuster by defenders of the right to filibuster.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said one and possibly two more efforts will be made to gain the two-thirds vote necessary to stop the talkathon and force action on a change in rules.

A Senate majority of 51 Democrats and Republicans, with White House backing, favors a rules change that would fix three-fifths, rather than two-thirds, as the vote required to limit debate.

The first vote to cut off debate last Thursday was 48 to 37, nine short of the required two-thirds.

"I would imagine the vote would be about the same as last time," said Mansfield before today's vote.

But a vote counter for Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, one of the chief sponsors of the filibuster rules change, had said he hoped the vote for cloture would edge upward to at least 53.

The effort now is to grind away at the filibustering forces with successive votes on cloture, a sequence in which promoters of the change hope to steadily gain strength.

"I think we're going to pick up five or six votes, but obviously that's still going to be short," said Sen. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, the Republican whip. Griffin said he hoped some senators, perhaps three or four, who voted against limiting debate last Thursday would switch and support the move.

Withdrawal Timetable Is Urged

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic policymakers have urged President Nixon to set a timetable immediately for withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Indochina before the end of 1972.

With that resolution being presented today to a caucus of the 55 Senate Democrats, a Republican senator proposed Congress immediately set the end of this year as a deadline for complete withdrawal.

"Now it is time to act," said Sen. Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland. "Now it is time for Congress finally to marshal its resolve and enact the legislation necessary to accelerate our withdrawal from the tragic conflict in Southeast Asia."

The Senate Democratic Policy Committee stopped short of seeking immediate action on legislation to compel American withdrawal. But Sen. Mike Mansfield, the party leader, said that action could come later if President Nixon does not act to end U.S. involvement in Indochina and withdraw all American forces "in a time certain."

The resolution approved by the 14-member party policy committee calls also for release of all prisoners.

Beyond the end of 1972, the Democrats suggested no specific withdrawal deadline. Mansfield said the measure provides the administration flexibility on that point.

"We're hoping he'll pick a time, and if he does, he'll have our support," Mansfield said. "We don't intend that it be publicized."

The Democrats set their general guideline by declaring total withdrawal an objective.

the underbrush of this world," said one. "Now you've got a clear view of the main jungle."

"At 60, I hope you'll start acting your age," said the other. "You've been looking it for at least 10 years."

The rest of the day went like this: I took a three-mile hike and fed nuts to four squirrels. I went to visit a sick friend. When I complained about being 60 years old, she said:

"H-m-m-m, that's odd. For a week I've had a premonition of death, but all the time I thought it was mine."

Returning home I was surprised by a fine chicken dinner cooked by my daughter Tracy Ann, 17, and her friend down the hall, Susan Stumpf, also 17. Then another surprise: the girls had baked a huge three-color angel food birthday cake, and Susan's father popped with a couple of bottles of champagne.

So I called my 83-year-old mother, who lives in Kansas City. "Congratulations, son," she said. "It's snowing here now just as it did 60 years ago when you were born. My, what a mess!"

The Senate majority should work to achieve during the current 92nd Congress. Its two-year tenure began a month ago.

The resolution declares it the sense of the policy committee—not binding on any senator—that during the current Congress Democrats should work "to end the involvement in Indochina and to bring about the withdrawal of all U.S. forces and the release of all prisoners in a time certain."

Mansfield said Democrats might agree later to press for a flat congressional withdrawal deadline if Nixon spurns their proposal.

He characterized Monday's resolution as an effort to help Nixon.

British Draft a Bill on Immigration

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Edward Heath's Conservative government has drafted an immigration bill removing the advantages citizens of other Commonwealth countries have had.

Its terms, disclosed today by authoritative sources, are sure to dismay the governments of several nonwhite Commonwealth states.

They equally are bound to be assailed by maverick Conservative Enoch Powell, who wants Britain to finance a massive program of repatriation for most of the country's million or so nonwhites.

A summary of the bill that will be presented to Parliament this week defines its aim as establishment of "a single system of immigration control applicable to everyone coming from overseas who is not exempt from control by reason of his connections" with the United Kingdom.

In practical terms this means Commonwealth citizens will be treated like all other foreigners. It also means Commonwealth citizens of Asia, Africa and the Caribbean will be affected most. They easily outnumbered the many citizens of the old white Commonwealth who qualify automatically for British citizenship by ancestry.

The bill provides for state-aided repatriation of immigrants wishing to leave but no forced repatriation; for deportation of immigrants failing to fulfill conditions of entry or whose departure could be judged "conducive to the public good;" and that immigrants must satisfy character and English-language qualifications and wait five years before being accepted as full British citizens.

Shooting Death Under Probe

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A coroner's jury was to review today the circumstances involved in the shooting death of David Carlton Henry, 22, of El Dorado.

Authorities said Henry was shot to death Monday night at the home of Dr. J. W. Miller of El Dorado.

Police said Henry apparently entered Miller's home under the guise of seeking medical treatment. Officers said that after gaining entrance Henry attempted an armed robbery. Detectives said a struggle ensued and that Henry was shot several times in the chest and head.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED for it, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

WHICH COMES FIRST...?

Dear Helen: I was reading an autobiography of a famous "madam" and she said several times that men preferred gambling to women. In fact, she said they liked sports and the company of other men -- I mean like in business or friendship -- better than making it with females, but they had to keep proving they could, which is why they were chasers.

Please ask your male readers if this is true. —CARLA

Dear Carla: I'll ask, but don't expect many straight answers. The truth is, men like a variety of things, women among them, whereas, up until this century, women's lives revolved almost entirely around men.

Which reminds me of the girl who asked, "Honey, do you like me better than baseball?" "Yes," said her boy friend. "And do you like me better than football?"

"Yup. I even like you better than ice hockey." Then, after a small pause: "You see, golf's MY game."

Now there's an honest man! —H.

Dear Helen:

I was so in love with Jere I couldn't see straight and that's no lie. I couldn't see why he'd take my pregnancy as "rotten luck." I couldn't believe his family and mine would hold a conference and decide for abortion. I couldn't see why they would want to take a life that I loved so much even if it was just starting.

But they talked me into it. Or maybe I just gave up because I knew Jere figured the baby would ruin everything.

So I had the abortion and I'm back in school. Jere is at college. When he comes home we see each other, but it's not the same. My dreams of marriage are all gone, as are all my other dreams.

Helen, I once read that most girls who have abortions feel nothing but relief. It isn't true! I feel crushing guilt, shame and regret. I can't get over knowing that I took a life. Every night I cry myself to sleep. I wish I could die.

Psychiatry didn't help. The doctor only asked questions and I wanted answers. I can't take my trouble to God. He said, "Thou shalt not kill."

Oh, Helen, will this awful thing ever go out of my mind. I feel like a -- MURDERER AT 16

Dear Readers: I sent this lost and lonely a long, very personal letter which attempted to give her the answers she needs. Briefly, they are:

The death she mourns is (in great part) the death of her dreams. Keeping the baby would have meant what she wanted most: Marriage with Jere, happy acceptance by her family. Instead she faced shock, disapproval, rejection -- a coldhearted "disposal" of the problem. This, added to an inherent loathing for abortion (laws change faster than ingrained "feelings" sometimes) might drown a girl in self-hate... unless she realizes that "guilt" can be a coverup -- an excuse for not accepting reality.

I told her that fighting depression takes a lot of guts, and much honest appraisal; and that God never turns His back on someone in trouble. This and much more.

If you readers (perhaps some of you have been there yourselves) want to help, please send your letters to me, care of this newspaper. —H.

Lawrence Is Favorite

LONDON (AP) — D.H. Lawrence, author of such books as "Lady Chatterly's Lover" and "Women in Love," is the favorite writer of university-bound pupils in Britain, says two lecturers.

The 1,000 16-to-18-year-old high school pupils ranked the exploits of Ian Fleming's spy hero James Bond a close second for reading material, said Dr. Geoffrey Yarlott and William Harpin.

Shakespeare, Chaucer and Dickens were poor also-rans. The findings were published in the magazine Educational Research.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's curious. At a time when most suppliers to the film industry are singing the depression blues, here's one who can scarcely keep up with his business.

The entrepreneur is alert, compact, Egyptian-born Fouad Said, pronounced Foo-ahd Sah-eed. He supplies what films need most nowadays: cost-cutting mobility.

Seven years ago the new graduate from the University of Southern California film school despaired of the ancient methods of the industry. He had been working as a cameraman, and he saw close-up the waste of the Hollywood factories.

The result of his thinking: Cinemobile, a new technique of including everything needed for a film location in a single truck or truckbus.

Said created a mobile location studio. Gone were tons of heavy gear and the caravans of trucks to haul it. Said redesigned the needed equipment—cameras, camera track, lights, reflectors, microphone boom, sound recording, generators, etc.—to be lightweight and compact.

Nobody had ever thought of it before. Cinemobile revolutionized location shooting, resulting in a special award for Said at last year's Academy awards show. Business is brisk.

"We are operating at 100 per cent capacity," reported Said.

"We have 18 rigs, and 16 are working—the other two are being overhauled. And we're building others as fast as we can."

The success of Cinemobile prompted other film suppliers and studios to offer their own systems for all-inclusive location trucks. Said pooh-poohs the competition.

"They cannot offer what we do," he said. "The studios are stuck with their old equipment, which doesn't fit this new system. Our trucks have between 3,000 and 3,600 pieces of equipment, and all MUST WORK. The camera can't stop because a single item is not functioning. We'll stay up all night, if necessary to make sure everything is in working order."

Recently Jack Lemmon talked of Said's uncommon services. Directing "Kotch" in Palm Springs with a Cinemobile rig, Lemmon was having trouble with a pickup truck being used in a scene. Without doffing his jacket, Said slid under the truck, repaired it, and the shooting continued.

How much can Cinemobile save on production costs?

"About a half-hour per move," says Said. "We can save a half-hour in setting up in the morning and a half-hour in closing up at night. The night-time is important, because the crews are often on overtime."

Savings of a half-hour here, a half-hour there can mean many thousands of dollars off a budget. This is especially important in movies that entail many brief locations and in television series, where production money is limited. Cinemobile rigs rent from $300 to $1,800 per day.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — "Sarge: The Badge or the Cross," NBC's "World Premiere" feature Monday night was a pilot film intended to demonstrate potential as a future series.

Pilots, in general, are readily identified. They usually concentrate on the central characters, suggesting their flexibility to cope with various situations to be dreamed up for future scripts.

This one seemed to be a tortured twist on a tried and true formula. "Sarge" Swanson is a good, rough police detective. In the opening scenes, a bomb meant for him kills his wife. The mourning husband quits the force, re-enters the seminary from which he dropped out years before, and becomes a priest.

Then Father Sarge busies himself with the people of his parish, establishes a tense relationship with his superior—younger than he is—but mostly he hunts the man responsible for his wife's death.

WILL SHE or won't she—return to the screen? That is the question raised by reports that Greta Garbo, now 65, might show up in a planned filming, by Italy's Luchino Visconti, of "Remembrance of Things Past." Rarely on public view, Garbo, in one of her more recent photographs, was caught in a characteristic pose (left) in Athens in 1966. Lensman later got a somewhat better view (above).

He finds him, of course. The idea of a tough cop turned priest is new but the rest is familiar TV territory. There was even the mandatory windup for action drama: the big fight. It was on the decks of an abandoned excursion boat.

George Kennedy played the priest, down-to-earth and tense. Like many made-for-TV efforts, it was dragged out to fill the two hours, but the camera work was excellent, the performances good and it was professionally put together.

ABC came along in the late evening with a half-hour summary of arguments for and against U.S. development of a supersonic transport plane. The program described plans in progress, showed European progress in the same field. William Magruder, SST project director, argued it would provide jobs, low-cost transportation and make money. Sen. William Proxmire explained the opposition's contentions, including expression of fear about pollution and sonic booms. The program was timely, balanced and generally helpful.

CBS's Doris Day finally got around to playing Doris Day in "The Doris Day Show." The idea was that Doris Martin—her TV character—won a Doris Day look-alike contest and a chance to meet the superstar.

It was a weak episode. Even the appearance of Miss Day as Doris Day didn't dispel the inanity of the premise.

Bobcats Go to Malvern Tuesday

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

How do you get out of a losing streak.

That's what the Hope Bobcats are wondering while they are now on a four game losing streak, winning only one game in the last three weeks.

It appears that the Cats are losing the dedication and teamwork they had earlier in the season and they must regain their winning form, starting tonight at Malvern, if they are to have a shot at the district tournament, and possibly the state tourney as well.

Through eight conference games of the round robin play, Hope started out with a 3-0 record and are now sitting on top of a 4-4 slate, losing the last three games.

The Cats, in district competition have scored an average of 59.7 points per game, but have allowed their opponents 61 points per game. In the free throw performances by the Cats, they are averaging a little over 67 per cent per game in district.

So, tonight Hope travels to Malvern for a pair of games, beginning at 6:30 p.m. And if they want to get back in winning form, they will have to start now. They have the material and the ability as they have already proved this year, but they must get it together.

UCLA Stays in First in Cage Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
UCLA retained its precarious perch as the nation's No. 1 college basketball power today as the 1970-71 season headed into the homestretch with the top seven positions unchanged in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Bruins, once-beaten defending national champions, held a 24-point lead over undefeated Marquette in the latest ballot of sports writers and broadcasters, drawing 24 first-place votes to 13 for the streaking Warriors.

Southern California, which matches UCLA's 20-1 season mark and will meet the Bruins in a climactic March 13 showdown, was No. 3 again in the voting.

Once-beaten Kansas received the other first place ballot but remained fifth in the rankings behind Pennsylvania, the only other major team with a perfect season record. Jacksonville and South Carolina held the No. 6 and 7 spots while Duquesne moved up from 10th to eighth. Western Kentucky remained ninth and Kentucky advanced from No. 12 to No. 10.

Marquette, 21-0 this season, puts a carryover streak of 33 victories on the line at New York Thursday night against Fordham, 20-1, which upended Notre Dame last week and soared from 18th to 11th in the ratings.

Michigan's Big Ten leaders jumped from 16th to 12th while North Carolina, beaten by South Carolina on Saturday, slipped from eighth to 13th and La Salle from 11th to 14th.

Louisville climbed four notches to No. 15. Utah State, Tennessee, Ohio State, Notre Dame and Long Beach State completed the Top Twenty.

The Irish, who have lost seven of 22 starts, tumbled from the No. 14 spot a week ago, totaling only 16 points in today's balloting. Long Beach State was the lone newcomer, replacing Murray State, which surrendered the No. 17 spot following two setbacks.

UCLA and Southern Cal each beat Oregon and Oregon State last weekend. Marquette extended its win string by thumping Air Force; Penn., 22-0, downed two Ivy League rivals and Kansas, 20-1, beat a pair of Big Eight Conference foes.

Jacksonville, 20-2, South Carolina, 16-4, and Western Kentucky, 18-4, also won twice each while Duquesne, 19-2, extended its winning streak to 15 with three victories.

The Top Twenty teams, with first place votes in parentheses and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc. basis:

Pacers Close Gap in ABA West Division

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Indiana Pacers closed the gap to 1½ in the American Basketball Association's Western Division race with a 102-99 victory over the Memphis Pros Monday night.

It was the league's only contest and marked the end of a 10-game home winning streak for the Pros.

In the only National Basketball Association game played, San Francisco topped Buffalo 109-91.

Mel Daniels led the Pacers' attack with 35 points while Charley Williams was high for Memphis with 25.

Tucson Golf Winner Has a Problem

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — J.C. Snead, a 29-year-old nephew of the great Sam Snead, has his first title, a little bit of a problem and some small bad feelings about the way he won.

Snead—the J.C. stands for Jesse Carlyle—became eligible for the prestige-laden PGA national championship when he won the weather-plagued $110,000 Tucson Open golf tournament in a 36-hole windup Monday.

And that's the problem. The PGA starts Thursday in southern Florida, a three-day drive.

"I just don't know what to do," said Snead, a one-time professional baseball player who had just won $22,000 and his first pro golf championship with a final-round 66 for 273. "I don't know whether to play there, try to get there or not. I've got my car with me, my wife with me, all my possessions. I just don't know."

But the big, hard-hitting guy was mostly concerned about his bogey-bogey finish.

"I always wondered what I would do if I were in that situation," he said. "And I found out. Leading by two with two holes to play. It wasn't as bad as I thought but it was bad. It's a bad way to finish. I feel kinda bad about that."

"I won and that's wonderful. I'm awful happy. But I don't like the way I finished."

Snead, who didn't take up golf until he was 25 when he gave up a career as an outfielder in the Washington Senators chain, led or shared the lead all the way, was tied with veteran Dale Douglass at the end of 36 holes and again after 54.

The latter was Monday morning, when they finished the third round of the tournament that had one round rained out and another canceled by a snowstorm.

Snead picked up one stroke going out in the afternoon, reeling off three consecutive birdies starting on the second hole, lipped out an eagle putt and settled for a bird on the sixth and put an iron within three feet on the next.

He turned in 31—and was just one stroke in front on the equally determined Douglass. The rest of the field had drifted back.

Douglass, a former Ryder Cup player who was in the two-some in front of Snead, wedged to four feet and made the putt on the 11th hole to gain a tie. So they were all even as Snead went to the 15th, a 580-yard par five.

He holed out a 60-yard chip shot for an eagle three and a two-stroke margin.

"I don't know what I was thinking," he said later. "I just saw Dale up there in front of me making birdies and I kept knocking them stiff and making birdies, too. I didn't know how many under par I was or he was until I got to the 17th."

Both bogeyed the 17th from traps. Douglass managed a par four on the tough final hole and Snead was short in two. He held a two-stroke lead at that point and needed to get down in three to win. He chipped short and two-putted from 20 feet, sinking a two-footer in the growing darkness for the victory.

Douglass had a final-round 67 for 274. It was five strokes back to the next group, George Archer, Al Mengert and Hale Irwin, tied at 279. Frank Beard, DeWitt Weaver and Jacky Cupit had 280s.

Lee Trevino, who had won the last two Tucson Opens, never really got it going and finished nine strokes back with a 282 total.

Jerkens Will Try to Remedy the Situation

HIALEAH, Fla. (AP)—Trainer Allen Jerkens, who doesn't have a stakes race victory to his name this season, will attempt to remedy that situation today when he starts Taken Aback in the $50,000 added Black Helen Handicap at Hialeah Park.

Taken Aback, top mare for Hobeau Farm, has been assigned the high starting weight of 122 pounds for the Black Helen. Ten other entries are expected for the mile-and-an-eighth race on the dirt.

6th Ranked Dolphins Win No. 15

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jacksonville was a veritable blizzard against East Carolina and Kentucky blew Alabama off the court—but that was nothing compared to the snow job the Big Eight got.

The sixth-ranked Dolphins rolled to their 15th consecutive victory and added lustre to their role as the nation's highest scoring collegiate team Monday night, rolling over the Pirates 127-69.

And Kentucky's 10th-rated Wildcats, breezing towards their fourth straight Southeastern Conference crown, boosted their record to 19-4 with a 101-74 romp against Alabama. The victory was Kentucky's 850th under Coach Adolph Rupp.

But the weatherman outplayed everyone in the Midwest as a massive snowstorm forced a one-day postponement of Monday night's Big Eight schedule. Kansas State at fifth-ranked Kansas, Oklahoma at Nebraska and Oklahoma State at Missouri.

Five of the teams spent Monday doing nothing—but Oklahoma State's Cowboys carried things to an extreme. They spent Sunday night and part of Monday in a snowbound bus on the Kansas Turnpike near Wichita.

In other major games, South Carolina held off Houston 88-81, Western Kentucky squeezed by Eastern Kentucky 94-93 in overtime, North Carolina rallied to overtake Florida State 70-61 and Virginia Tech upset Ohio University 86-80.

Jacksonville's victory may have been a costly one. Greg Nelson, a 6-foot-6 senior, crashed to the floor midway in the first half, suffering possible torn ligaments in his left ankle.

By the end of the half the Dolphins had cruised to a 52-26 lead and 7-foot Pembroke Burrows, who alternates with Nelson at the high post, was on his way to a game-high 27 points. Al Faber topped ECU with 22.

Artis Gilmore and Harold Fox chipped in 25 apiece for Jacksonville and Gilmore brought the hometown crowd to its feet, illegally dunking the ball in the final minute, then breaking his usually stoic expression into a wide grin as the technical foul was called.

Tom Parker was Kentucky's top man with 21 points in the ragged game. "We didn't have much finesse," said Joe Hall, subbing for Coach Rupp, recuperating after being hospitalized with a foot infection.

"I didn't think there was much doubt we would beat them but there was some question as to how we would go about it," Hall said. "We wound up just wrestling with 'em." There were 60 turnovers and 40 fouls.

Houston threw a special defense against John Roche and held the South Carolina star to 14 points—but 6-11 Tom Owens took up the slack by hitting 19 points and Rick Aydtlett and Tom Riker added 16 apiece in the balanced attack that gave the seventh-ranked Gamecocks a solid 32-30 halftime lead.

Jim McDaniels ran away with Western Kentucky scoring honors, slamming in 41 points, but it took a 20-foot jump shot—his only field goal of the night—by reserve guard Danny Johnson with six seconds left that lifted the ninth-ranked Hilltoppers over their cross-state rivals.

North Carolina's No. 13 Tar Heels trailed Florida State by as many as nine points in the first half, cut the gap to a point at the intermission, then took control in the second session. Scoring honors went to FSU's Ron King, who hit 15 of his 21

State Keeps Alive in Southland

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas State University kept its Southland Conference title hopes alive Monday night with a 55-53 basketball victory over Trinity University.

Trinity hit 53 per cent of its shots from the field in the first half and built up a nine-point lead. But the Tigers went cold with about 14 minutes left in the game and scored only three field goals the remainder of the way.

The Tribe tied the game at 45-all with about five minutes left and then built a six-point lead before Trinity fought back with two late field goals in the final minute.

Danny Sullivan led the Indians with 15 points and Allan Pruett added 14.

Monday night's victory was a key step in setting up a possible SLC championship confrontation with Abilene Christian on March 1.

ASU is 4-2 in league play and will host Texas Arlington Saturday night at Jonesboro.

points in the opening half.

Virginia Tech held a 10-point lead just before the end of the first half but Ohio rallied to tie the game 56-56 with 12:15 to play. Then the Gobblers, led by Charlie Lipscomb's 27 points, reeled off eight consecutive points to tame the Bobcats.

In the night's slowdown contests, Denver University and Regis crawled to a 23-23 tie after regulation play before DU's Pioneers grabbed a 38-27 triumph and Southwestern Louisiana crept past Northwestern Louisiana 25-21.

In other highlighted games, Tulane shook off early scoring miseries to whip Tampa 93-82, Bowling Green hit 14 of its first 21 shots to pound Chicago Loyola 19-3 behind Rich Walker's 29 points, and Morehead rode Jim Day's 25 points to a 70-55 victory over Middle Tennessee.

East Tennessee State placed five players in double figures to rout Austin Peay 72-54, North Carolina State outscored Virginia 19-3 late in the first half en route to a 97-77 victory, Air Force held off Western Colorado State 75-73, Earl Findley scored 18 of his 24 points in the second half as Florida smacked Ole Miss 85-68 and Murray overtook Tennessee Tech 72-69 despite Wayne Pack's 28 points.

PGA Trying Hard to Pull Out of No. 4

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special correspondent
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The PGA championship is No. 4 among golf's big four major tournaments, but it's trying harder.

A new date and a new site—the palm-bejeweled East Course of the PGA National Golf Club, home of the national headquarters—are intended to improve the image of the stepchild title event that for a quarter of a century has been struggling for proper recognition.

"This is a start—but it will take time," Jack Nicklaus said today. "The PGA hit a slump for a period when it was playing inferior courses."

"Naturally, it lost stature and I think most golfers rated it No. 4 in prestige so far as a victory was concerned. But now the PGA is playing on tough courses."

"In my opinion, it has the toughest field of the four big tournaments."

Included in the big four are the Masters, U.S. Open, British Open and PGA. Three men who have won all four will be in the list of 147 pros who will tee up the ball here Thursday for the four-day 72-hole 53rd PGA championship.

They are Gene Sarazen, who played in the event 50 years ago; Gary Player, the precise little South African, and Nicklaus, who needs only a victory this week to complete a second sweep of the four big events.

"The PGA is the toughest because of the qualification system," Nicklaus said. "The U.S. Open weeds out a lot of potential winners through its local and regional qualifying tests, the British Open draws only a small, hard group of the best U.S. pros, but it's improving, while the Masters, as a restricted invitation, has the weakest field of all."

Nicklaus' appraisal was seconded quickly by other top pros lounging in the locker room of the PGA clubhouse.

"I think the PGA definitely is the toughest," said Tony Jacklin of Britain, the U.S. Open titleholder. "Yet, I'm sure most golfers consider the U.S. and the British Opens and the Masters as having more prestige."

"That's true," agreed Player, "but the field here is by far the best we run against all year." Dave Stockton, the defending champion, was a dissenter. "I think most pro golfers on the tour would prefer to win the PGA," Stockton said. "They get an automatic qualification for every tour tournament for 10 years. The Masters doesn't qualify you for anything."

"But for me, now that I've already won the PGA, I'm gunning for the Masters." The PGA, which automatically qualifies the top 70 money-winners, has suddenly become a prime event for two other of the nation's top shotmakers—Arnold Palmer and Bill Casper. They've never won it. There's not a pro who doesn't want to win the championship of his peers.

Palmer has won two British Opens, four Masters and the U.S. Open. Casper, pro golfer of the year for the last two years, has two U.S. Opens and the Masters.

The doughty Sarazen, who won the first of his three PGA titles in 1922, said the PGA should establish the PGA National Golf Club here as the permanent site of the event.

"It would be like another Masters," Sarazen said, "People would plan months in advance to be here. It would become a tournament that would be second to none."

Compte Deux Winner at Oaklawn

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Compte Deux, owned by R. E. Lehmann, edged by Everetts Delight in the final eighth to win Monday's $7,500 feature race at Oaklawn Park.

Paul Herron guided the 3-year-old colt over the 6 furlongs in 1:13 on a good track.

Compte Deux, sixth choice in the wagering, paid $21.20, $10.40 and $6.80. Michigan Sails, who came up from near the rear going down the stretch, finished second to pay $4.80 and $3.60. Everetts Delight paid $4.80 to show.

The favorite, Rapid Tim, trailing most of the way, had too much ground to make up in the stretch and finished fifth.

When the horses turned into the stretch, Everetts Delight, racing along the rail, took over the lead, but fell behind Compte Deux as the horses neared the wire.

Monday's daily double South Baca in the first and Sonny's Surprise in the second (Nos. 6 and 4), paid $962.40.

The crowd of 7,806 wagered $572,428.

Mr. Jtm, owned by W. C. Partee of Magnolia, heads a field of six 3- and 4-year-olds in today's $7,000 feature race. Top weighted at 121 pounds, he will be ridden by Don Brumfield.

Rounding out the allowance field in the 1 mile and 70 yard event will be Double Rank (116), Mr. Fixit (112), Phantom Leader (112), Mr. Thankful (112) and Princabar (104).

Gene Alley First Major Casualty

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
All hands were on deck for the Pittsburgh Pirates until Gene Alley crossed swords with a one-armed rogue ... and became baseball's first major spring training casualty.

Alley, whose contract signing Sunday brought the Pirates to full strength, suffered a broken left hand during Monday's initial fullscale workout when he tried to ward off a high-and-tight delivery from a pitching machine.

The veteran shortstop said a gust of wind apparently caught the ball "and it took off. I ducked back and threw my hand up, and the ball hit me." The hand will be in a cast for about a month, team Doctor Joseph Finegold estimated.

Houston Manager Harry Walker and Kansas City pitcher Tom Burgmeier also were early accident victims. Walker was struck on the big toe of his left foot by a line drive and Burgmeier suffered a split lip when hit by a thrown ball.

Rookie pitchers Jim Rittwage and Ed Farmer of Cleveland were sidelined with a pulled thigh muscle and strained Achilles tendon, respectively. Rittwage was the last American League pitcher to beat Baltimore before the Orioles closed out last season with a 16-game win string.

And Cincinnati skipper Sparky Anderson spent his 37th birthday in bed with an ear infection and strep throat. "I've never had anything so painful in my life as that ear," he said, forgetting temporarily the headache caused by the continued resistance of 15 unsigned Reds, including Johnny Bench, Pete Rose, Tony Perez and Lee May, to the club's salary offers.

Willie Mays, still negotiating his contract, and Jim Ray Hart, recuperating from shoulder surgery, were the lone absentees as the San Francisco Giants went through their paces.

Juan Marichal, beset by ailments last season, threw for five minutes and reported: "The fall felt light. I am optimistic."

"The ball felt light...I am optimistic."

Curt Flood was among Monday's arriving celebrities at the far-flung camps. The controversial outfielder reported to the Washington Senators, huffed and puffed through a lengthy workout and then proclaimed: "The one personal goal I have is to kick the hell out of the Cardinals in the World Series."

Flood, an 11-year St. Louis fixture until the Cards dealt him to Philadelphia in 1969, refused to report to the Phillies, sat out last season while challenging the reserve clause in a federal court suit and finally consented to return as a $110,000 Washington chattel.

Although the Senators finished last in the AL East in 1970, losing their final 14 starts, at least one Cardinal was prepared to accept his ex-teammate's World Series challenge.

"If I can win 20 again and have the club win, that's what it's all about," said St. Louis pitching ace Bob Gibson, who checked into camp and sealed a svelte 188 pounds after his first drill.

The New York Yankees signed catcher Thurman Munson, the AL's 1970 Rookie of the Year, as their batterymen went to work for the first time.

Other signees included outfielder Rick Reichardt by the Chicago White Sox, second baseman Julian Javier by St. Louis, infielder Ken Boswell by the New York Mets, pitcher Phil Niekro and outfielder Ralph Garr by Atlanta, pitcher Sparky Lyle and outfielder Billy Conigliaro by Boston and second baseman Dick Green, who had previously announced his retirement, by Oakland.

Mark Belanger joined early-Bird regulars Paul Blair and Merv Rettenmund in the Baltimore camp but said he has no plans to follow Blair's lead in a switch-hitting experiment. "I've got enough trouble from one side ... I don't want double trouble," said the slender shortstop, who batted .218 last year for the world champs.

Star Tennis Attraction to Be Missing

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Elimination play begins today in the Macon International Tennis Tournament with the star attraction, Cliff Richey, missing.

Richey, defeated by Clark Graebner in the finals of the National Indoor Open Championships at Salisbury, Md., Sunday, informed tournament officials Monday that he could not play here. He said he suffered thumb, toe and back injuries during his loss to Graebner.

Graebner moved up to No. 1 seed for this tournament, in the absence of Richey, followed by Tom Gorman, Jim McManus and Tom Edelfsen.

The foreign seeds in order are Ilie Nastase of Rumania, Zeljko Franulovic of Yugoslavia, Jaime Fillol of Chile, and Thomas Koch of Brazil.

Forty one players from 18 nations are entered in the tournament which ends Sunday.

NEW YORK (AP) — To listen to Dennis Ralston, you'd think he'd just lost—but that's getting ahead of the story.

"I'd rather play anybody but Rod Laver in the semifinals simply because I think he's the best there is," the star from Bakersfield, Calif., said Monday night.

Ralston hadn't just lost the semifinal match. In fact it's more than three weeks away. What he had done was whip Arthur Ashe 6-2, 4-6, 7-6 for the right to meet Laver, the brilliant Australian left-hander, March 18 in the next-to-last round of the $210,000 Tennis Champions Classic.

"Of course, he's not a robot and can't win all the time," Ralston said of Laver, "but he hasn't slipped a bit."

The red-haired Aussie isn't expected to slip against Ralston either. He's swept all 11 matches on the tour and is heavily favored to pick up another $15,000 in the semis, then capture the $35,000 prize in the finals.

In the other semifinal match at Madison Square Garden, Tom Okker of The Netherlands will face Roy Emerson of Australia. The date of the finals has not been set.

The playoff between Ralston and Ashe, of Richmond, Va., was made necessary when they tied for fourth place in the series with one match triumph and four set victories apiece.

Ashe, who lost the best-of-3 playoff on a final-set tie-breaker—and suffered his first loss to Ralston in five matches—said later:

"I believe Dennis has a good chance against Laver—but I think Okker has the best chance of beating him."

Haywood Takes Decision to U.S. Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spencer Haywood says he'll suffer irreparable injury to his playing condition, ability and reputation if the National Basketball Association doesn't let him play basketball with the Seattle SuperSonics—and he hopes the U.S. Supreme Court agrees.

The former University of Detroit star, who jumped last Dec. 28 to Seattle from the Denver Rockets of the rival American Basketball Association, asked the high court Monday to overrule a lower court decision barring him from playing for the Sonics.

In going before the Supreme Court, Haywood asked for an injunction against an Appeals Court order favoring the NBA.

Charges Fly in World of Tennis

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — An official of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association charged today that World Championship Tennis, Inc., was seeking to sign illegal contracts with promoters. "Emissaries of Lamar Hunt are going around holding clandestine meetings," said Bill Riordan, "signing cloak and dagger contracts that are in absolute conflict with rules of the International Lawn Tennis Federation."

"The federation prohibits the paying of guarantees by promoters or any group," said Riordan, the USLTA's player coordinator, "but that's what Mike Davies and Donald Dell are seeking for the contract pros."

"We started open tennis to do away with under-the-table payments to players, and now management is looking for them. With all the money Hunt has, I don't see why he has to do that. Maybe he doesn't know what Davies and Dell are doing."

Riordan, general chairman of the U.S. indoor and Caribbean circuits, said the International Independent Players Association met in Salisbury last week and discussed the boycotting of tournaments which offer guarantees to the contract players, and predicted most would not play in the Charlotte Invitational starting April 12.

"I don't think the contract players can sell themselves with the same guys playing each other every week," Riordan said. "They need the international flavor from our group."

ABC Given Go-ahead on 12th Game

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the off-season college football wash: The NCAA has given ABC-TV permission to televise an additional college football game nationally this fall. The game has not been selected yet, but it will be on Thanksgiving Day.

This gives ABC a Turkey Day doubleheader, but the powers-that-be haven't decided whether to make it an afternoon twin bill, day-night or what.

Last year's Thanksgiving card was a sparse one and that figures to hold true again. The network probably will ask someone to move a game.

The fall schedule now shows 12 national games and 24 regionals. There also is a possibility the NCAA will agree to a second wild card regional weekend, which means ABC would have until midseason or so to pick the four games to be TVed. ABC's current slate has one national and one regional wild card weekend.

Marshall University is still looking for a head coach—Rick Tolley and his entire squad were killed in a plane crash—but acting head coach Red Dawson is beating the recruiting trails. He's signed 21 prospects to letters of intent and they come from West Virginia, South Carolina, Ohio, Virginia and Alabama.

Wichita State, the other crash victim, has realigned its staff under head coach Bob Seaman. The Shockers lured Dick Moseley, an assistant at Eastern Michigan, to be defensive coordinator. Holdover Chuck Ramsey takes over as offensive coordinator.

Black Hills Play
The Black Hills Passion Play, brought from Lunenburg, Germany, in 1932, is now presented at Spearfish, S.D. The Lunenburg Passion Play, older than the famous Oberammergau Passion Play, was first given by the monks of the Ceppenburg Monastery about the middle 1200s.

Funds to Fight Sickle Cell Anemia

By G. C. THELEN Jr. Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration will, in a sense, pit science against love as part of its $6 million campaign to combat sickle cell anemia, the painful and crippling childhood disease that afflicts only blacks.

It plans a genetic counseling program in a pilot effort to identify prospective marriage partners with the disease trait and alert them to the danger facing their offspring, according to Dr. Ian Mitchell, an administration health aide.

"People sitting on a time bomb would like to know it," said Mitchell, who will direct the sickle cell campaign, scheduled to begin later this year in a number of cities.

"This doesn't mean, however, that we will tell people they shouldn't marry," he continued in an interview. "We will give them information so they can make a rational decision."

Sickle cell anemia is a hereditary ailment found only in Negroes. Some eight to 10 per cent of the black population carries the disease trait in their genes and can be so identified by tests.

While these carriers do not suffer from the anemia, they can impart it to their children if they "marry" another carrier. Statistically, of four children from such a union, one would have the disease, two would have the trait but no disease, and one would have neither.

Approximately one in 500 black babies is born suffering from the disease. Most die of the blood disorder before adulthood after numerous bouts with jaundice, abdominal pain, joint disorders, progressive weakness and infection.

The symptoms are caused by abnormal red blood cells that become elongated, something like matchsticks or a sickle blade, and form logjams in capillaries of the blood system. Tissue death results at the jam points.

"It is a sad and shameful fact that the causes of this disease have been largely neglected throughout our history," President Nixon said last week in announcing a $6 million request for concentrated research on the anemia as part of his special health message to Congress.

"We cannot rewrite this record of neglect, but we can reverse it," he said.

Mitchell said plans for the counseling centers are not complete. He would not say where they will be located or how much they will cost.

Black federal health officials and black advisory councils will have a major voice in designing the pre-marriage counseling service, Mitchell said.

The anteater is a mammal native of Central America and northern South America. The World Almanac says it has a sticky tongue about a foot long which it uses to catch ants, termites and other insects which comprise its diet. It has no teeth but has long, sharp claws with which it tears open ant and termite nests.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Controlling the Wheezing

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D. Dear Dr. Lamb—What causes bronchial asthma and is there any cure for it? Do different foods have an effect on it?

Dear Reader—Bronchial asthma is a constriction of the air passages in the lungs. The outlet to the tiny air sacs is constricted, causing them to be overinflated. This is why the chest is expanded during the attack. Normally, when we breathe the lungs merely collapse without any effort, but the asthmatic must use force to move air out of his lungs. As the air is forced through the constricted air passages, wheezing occurs, which is typical of asthmatic seizure. During the asthmatic attack the person is usually anxious, sitting upright, straining with the effort of breathing and the loud wheezes can often be heard across the room.

The common type of bronchial asthma is caused by allergies—often to the same things that cause hay fever. Weed pollen and dusts are big offenders. Asthma is caused in some people from an allergic response to infections.

The sudden attack of asthma is usually treated by the doctor with adrenalin or a related medication. These medicines relax the constriction of the air passages and bring relief in that way. Sometimes this is not enough and if the attack persists hormones have to be given. These measures are only temporary.

Unless other measures are taken, asthmatic attacks tend to recur. Usually, each attack is a little bit worse than the previous one. When asthma is caused by allergy to pollens and dusts, an effort should be made to avoid them. This means removal of household pets, feather pillows, elimination of house dust. House dusts can be controlled to satisfactory levels by eliminating carpets, draperies and heavy furniture. It is probably best to have the source of the allergy identified by testing and then undergo a desensitization program which eliminates or controls the allergy. If the source of the allergy is in one's occupation, it is usually best to change jobs.

When asthma is caused by respiratory infections, antibiotics are used to combat the infection. Special efforts to avoid respiratory infections are advised.

Some experts like to use weak two-bids to show almost any kind of a hand with a six-card suit and 6-12 high-card points. They make lots of weak two-bids, but they get little good out of them.

In JACOBY MODERN the weak two-bid shows a six-card suit headed by two of the four top honors and 7-10 high-card points. Partner's only forcing response is two no-trump which asks the opener to clarify his point count by rebidding his suit with a 7-8 minimum or showing a feature with a 9-10 maximum.

South's three-diamond re-bid showed the 9-10 maximum. It also came close to giving North a complete picture of his hand. To make sure, North used Blackwood. When South showed one ace North bid the grand slam. Trumps had to be solid and at the worst the slam would depend on reasonable luck in the diamond suit.

The grand slam was a proper bid since

Walker Tops in Making Free Tosses

NEW YORK (AP) — Chet Walker's 44-for-45 foul shooting spree in four Chicago victories last week has sent the Bulls' veteran to the head of the free throw class, providing the lone change among National Basketball Association statistical leaders.

Walker, who celebrated his 31st birthday Monday, surged past Milwaukee's Oscar Robertson and Seattle's Dick Snyder into the free throw accuracy lead with an .861 percentage, according to weekly figures released today.

The Chicago forward, a nine-year NBA standout, is 11th in the over-all scoring race with 1,486 points and a 22.5 per-game average.

Low Alcindor of Milwaukee remained atop the scoring parade with a 32-point average after twice topping the 40 mark during the week. The biggest Buck has hit for 2,146 points in 67 games.

Boston's John Havlicek and San Diego's Elvin Hayes held the second and third spots with respective per-game averages of 29.1 and 29.0.

Other holdover leaders are Wilt Chamberlain of Los Angeles in rebounding with 18.6 retrieves per game, Norm Van Lier of Cincinnati in playmaking with 10.1 assists per game and Cincinnati's Johnny Green in field goal percentage with a .595 mark.

Warriors in Victory Over Buffalo

BUFFALO (AP) — Nate Thurmond and Jerry Lucas split 56 points and combined for 45 rebounds Monday night to lead the San Francisco Warriors to a 109-91 National Basketball Association victory over the Buffalo Braves.

"Thurmond was just tremendous," said Braves Coach Dolph Schayes. "Every time we got within six or eight points he was there to block a shot or get a key rebound."

San Francisco took an early lead and Buffalo was unable to close the margin. By halftime, the Warriors led 52-40.

North Vietnamese supply lines and base areas.

Spokesmen, who would not be identified nor quoted directly, indicated South Vietnamese combat ability was being tested, but implied nothing was likely to happen to affect the President's withdrawal strategy.

Other officials, however, are by no means so confident. The South Vietnamese ground-force thrust was regarded as a risky action from the beginning, depending on how the North Vietnamese reacted. Counterattacks in the last week have persuaded knowledgeable officials Hanoi decided to react with considerable power.

In the most dramatic action so far, a South Vietnamese Ranger battalion was driven from a hill position, with about 300 of the 450 men in the unit killed or wounded.

Field dispatches said, furthermore, the drive into Laos has been stalled by counter strikes for five straight days.

However, some of the best informed officials here challenged a field dispatch that the North Vietnamese have increased the number of vehicles operating on the Ho Chi Minh Trail from 1,000 to 2,000.

There is no basis for estimating any such increase in truck volume, these sources said.

The North Vietnamese attacks were not unexpected, although the experience in Cambodia last spring suggested the outside possibility Hanoi might again choose to sacrifice some of their Laotian base areas to avoid heavy combat losses.

On the other hand, the threatened bases and trails in Laos are more vital to the North Vietnamese because of their losses in Cambodia. Moreover the whole Vietnamization program is entering a crucial phase and Hanoi knows it.

authority and did not intend to use it.

Democratic spokesmen repeatedly have criticized him for not invoking the authority or at least the possibility of its use to persuade business and labor to hold an anti-inflation line.

Connally told the committee "we also accept" the section of a pending bill that would extend the standby authority.

"I must point out, however, that we do not believe that a network of general wage-price controls is needed at this time, nor do we believe that the American people would long stand for such regimentation, under present circumstances," Connally said.

"Consequently, in accepting this section, we do so with the advance statement that we do not contemplate any circumstances—short of an all-out national emergency—in which the President would establish general wage-price controls without a further specific mandate from the Congress. This would provide evidence that a majority of the people favored such controls and would support these."

coach Al Attles said Mullins would be out for another three or four more days.

Buffalo's Don May was the game's high-scorer with 36 points.

There were no other games scheduled in the NBA.

Not Supposed to Be Scouts, Calley Says

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Having recounted the agony of seeing his men fall prey to a ghostly enemy, Lt. William L. Calley's testimony today turns to the Saturday morning in My Lai that brought him to trial.

"It dawned on me that we weren't playing games, that we weren't supposed to be a bunch of Boy Scouts out there playing," Calley said as he told his murder trial jury of his school days, a series of insignificant jobs, Army training and finally Vietnam.

The 27-year-old lieutenant was completely composed Monday as he began testimony in his trial on charges of premeditated murder of 102 Vietnamese villagers.

His testimony today was to begin with the briefing Charlie Company was given the night before it swept through My Lai. Calley led the company's first platoon.

Calley leaned back in the witness chair resting his arm on the wooden railing and unflinchingly told Monday what he was taught about the enemy.

"There never was any word of exactly who the enemy was, but to suspect everyone; that everyone was a potential enemy and that men and women were equally dangerous and because of the unsuspectedness of children, they were even more dangerous," he said.

The charges against the 5-foot-3 officer are that he killed captive old men, women and children in the hamlet while receiving no hostile fire.

The six officers on the jury, five of them showing the ribbons of Vietnam service, followed Calley's account of pre-Mylai combat experiences intensely, at times leaning forward in their chairs as he pointed to a relief map of the area.

"Vietnamese women for some reason are better shots than the men are," Calley said. "They fight equally the same. Men and women can both be armed. Children can be used in a multitude of ways, including being used as warning signals ..."

"One of their best ways to warn the VC (Viet Cong) in the area that an American unit has come in is to give a small child a hand grenade and let them throw it at an area, kill one GI and let the enemy in the area get out of the way."

"They also use children to collect and distribute booby traps and mines. Children are very good at planting mines and just as basically they are very dangerous."

Here at Ft. Benning, where he took officer training "there was an answer for everything," Calley said.

"We can go right down the book. We had no problems on almost everything. There was an answer to everything. When you got to Vietnam, nobody had the answers."

Calley entered Officer Candidate School on March 16, 1967—one year to the day before the alleged massacre at My Lai.

Calley said he began learning about the war while his unit was still in Hawaii, training for its move into Vietnam.

"It was essential that troops in Vietnam put out of their minds the World War II and Korean concept of giving candy and chewing gum and things to the children, because that was taking a heavy toll.

produce about $2.7 million annually when the exemptions are dissolved.

Gathright had drafted four amendments for the bill. Besides the two adopted, one was withdrawn without Senate consideration and the other was defeated on a vote of 17-14, one vote short of adoption.

The defeated amendment, known as the "Arkansas Power & Light Co. amendment," would have exempted from the use tax any construction contracts now in force with Public Service Commission approval.

AP&L plans development of two nuclear generating plants, one of which is under construction near Russellville. The projects are to be completed over a 10-year period, with the Russellville facility scheduled for completion in 1976.

"It's not right to penalize a company that's trying to put Arkansas on the map," Gathright said.

After the amendment was defeated, the use tax repealer bill's sponsor, Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, was asked by Sen. Clarence E. Bell of Parkin: "Have we just clipped AP&L for $6 million?"

Harvey said he didn't know, but Bell later told newsmen that AP&L spokesmen had told him that removal of the exemption would cost the utility $6 million. "I just don't think that's fair," Bell said.

Of the three bills approved by the Senate, only the transfer tax generated substantial amounts of debate.

Sen. W. D. Moore Jr. of El Dorado, anticipating other administration tax bills, said a reduction of the real estate transfer levy was a "very, very poor argument for a tax increase of any nature."

The tax was imposed by Act 239 of 1969. Since then, more than $2 million had been collected, of which $900,000 had been earmarked for the state Parks, Recreation and Travel Commission with another $900,000 of the revenue set aside for the Arkansas Children's Colony at Conway.

The reduced tax would produce about $500,000 annually, which, beginning July 1 of this year, would go into the state's General Revenue Fund, rather than being set aside for parks or the colony. The bill's sponsor, Sen. Ben Allen of Little Rock, said, however, that Bumpers plans to use the money for parks development.

The state Supreme Court declared unconstitutional in 1970 a section of Act 239 allowing a portion of the revenue collected under the act to be used to finance revenue bond issues because there was no provision for a public election on whether to issue the bonds.

The bill to add some services to the sales tax would apply to alteration, addition, cleaning, refinishing, replacement and repair of motor vehicles, aircraft, farm machinery and implements, motors of all kinds, tires and batteries, boats, electrical appliances and devices, furniture, rugs, upholstery, household appliances, television and radio, jewelry, watches and clocks, engineering instruments, medical and surgical instruments, machinery of all kinds, bicycles, office machines and equipment, shoes, tin and sheetmetal, mechanical tools and shop equipment.

Among other actions, the House approved 75-0 a bill to permit a candidate for U.S. senator or congressman to be at the same time a candidate for president or vice president. However, Rep. George E. Nowotny Jr. of Fort Smith delayed transmission of the bill to Bumpers by giving notice that he might seek another vote on the measure.

Territorial Terms Talked by Israel

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Israeli government has created three committees to draw up territorial terms and new borders it would accept in a Middle East peace agreement, informed sources report. But Egypt has told the Big Four again that peace is impossible unless Israel withdraws from all the land it captured in 1967.

Premier Golda Meir's Cabinet declared Sunday that Israel would never return to the boundaries existing before the June 1967 war but said it is willing to negotiate new "secure and agreed" territorial lines.

Mahmoud Riad, Egypt's foreign minister Monday called in Donald C. Bergus, chief U.S. diplomat in Cairo, and the ambassadors of Britain, France and the Soviet Union. A ministry spokesman said he told them the Israeli refusal constitutes "a challenge to the U.N. charter, the Big Four powers and world public opinion."

"Peace can not be established in the area without Israel's total withdrawal from the entire Arab lands occupied in June 1967," Riad declared. He called on the four governments to "face this new Israeli challenge and take up their responsibilities toward peace," the spokesman said.

The sources in Jerusalem said one border mapping committee is headed by a senior army officer, another by key government officials and the third is made up of experts on international law. They were formed last month after Israel returned to indirect peace negotiations with Jordan and Egypt under U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring, the sources said.

Each committee is working on a specific aspect of peacetime borders, they said.

The army group is drawing up the over-all plan using principles devised by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan that include retention of the Gaza Strip in Egypt and the Golan Heights in Syria.

The committee of government ministers is working on a plan to keep Jerusalem united under Israeli rule, including the Arab sector taken from Jordan in the six-day war. Jordan would have sovereignty over Moslem shrines in the city, possibly as leased enclaves.

The third group is studying treaties and armistices.

Israel has called several times for direct negotiations with the Egyptians instead of through Jarring at the United Nations, but Egypt has refused. Cairo's semi-official newspaper Al Ahran said today direct negotiations would "negate the role of the world community and the United Nations in solving the Middle East problem," and this is the major reason Egypt can't accept them.

Egypt's demand for total withdrawal and its insistence on relocation of Palestinians displaced when the United Nations set up the Jewish state drew support from Foreign Minister Khalil Abu Hamad of Lebanon. Arriving in Saudi Arabia for a visit, he said peace will come "only if Israel withdraws from war-conquered Arab regions and recognizes the national rights of the Palestinians."

One suggested solution to the Palestinian problem has been creation of a separate state along the Jordan River. There were reports Monday that Egypt was joining the United States, the Soviet Union and France in pressing the Central Committee of the Palestine Liberation Organization to accept the idea.

Through its guerrilla fighters, the Central Committee wants to destroy Israel as a Jewish state in favor of a country in which Jews, Moslems and Christians would have equal rights. It has said it will reject any Palestinian state that didn't include Israel.

Generally Egypt backs this, but President Anwar Sadat indicated Egyptian policy may be changing. He told Newsweek magazine that "a reasonable way to solve the problem" would be compensation for lost land and a referendum among Palestinians on whether to be part of Jordan or to have a separate state linked with Jordan.

Syrian President Ahmed el Khatib resigned Monday and was elected by the 173-man Peoples Council as its speaker. His resignation automatically gave Premier Hafez al Assad the presidency until a national referendum in which he is expected to be the only candidate.

Assad led the revolt within the ruling Baath party last November that forced out Nouruddin Atassi.

G&F Backing for Ouachita Project

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Game and Fish Commission adopted in principle Monday night a resolution saying that a $200,000 appropriation for the Ouachita River Navigation Project was feasible.

The commission reached its decision by a 5-1 vote after a three-hour meeting.

The meeting was called to consider a request from Gov. Dale Bumpers for furnishing the nonfederal funds required for construction of the Felsen-thal and Callon locks and dams on the Ouachita River in South Arkansas.

The commission scheduled another meeting for this morning to consider a final draft of the resolution and decide what action to take.

Amendments to Constitution Suggested

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Constitutional Amendments Committee of the Arkansas House decided Monday on four proposed constitutional amendments it would like to recommend to the legislature for submission to the voters in the 1972 general election.

One of the amendments would lower the state voting age from 21 to 18. A second would increase from three to five the number of proposed amendments the legislature could submit to the electorate in a general election.

A third amendment would exempt from the ad valorem tax the first $2,000 of assessed value of the home of Arkansans 65 years and older.

The other amendment would rewrite the legislative article of the state Constitution.

The Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee also will select four proposals and the two committees later will seek agreement on three of the total of eight amendments and submit them to the legislature.
